The Sculptors

I dreamed I stood in a studio
And watched two sculptors there.
The clay they used was a young child's mind
And they fashioned it with care.
One was a teacher;
The tools he used were books, music and art.
One a parent,
With a guiding hand and a gentle loving heart,
Day after day the teacher toiled
With a touch that was loving and sure;
While the parent laboured by his side
And polished and smoothed it o'er.
And when at last this task was done,
They were proud of what they had wrought,
For the things that they had moulded into the child
Could neither be sold or bought.
And each agreed he would have failed,
If he had worked alone,
For behind the parent stood the school,
And behind the teacher,
The home.
